

You wash dishes about two hours every day. That's one hour wasted!

Dishes get dirty, greasy and sticky and soap will not clean them. Soapy dish water merely cleans the surface; it doesn't dig out the corners and drive out the decayed food particles. Moreover, soap leaves your dishes with a soapy, animal-fat smell, that is far from inviting.

GOLD DUST is the sanitary dish washer. It not only cleans the surface, but digs deep after hidden particles of dirt and kills the germs of decayed food which ordinary dish-water overlooks. GOLD DUST sterilizes as well as cleanses.

Besides doing the work better than soap or any other cleanser can, GOLD DUST will save just half the time you spend in washing dishes.

GOLD DUST is sold in 50 size and large packages. The large package offers greater economy.

An Emotional Musician

By DAVID WALTER CHURCH
Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

In 1859 I enlisted in the 4th infantry of the French army. I remained in my native country until my regiment was sent by the Emperor Napoleon III. to Mexico. Shortly before Maximilian was shot by the Mexicans I entered into a conspiracy to rescue him. One of our conspirators gave away the plan. We were arrested, tried and sentenced to meet the same fate as the emperor.

The day before we were to suffer death a man dressed in the uniform of a band in the Mexican army came into the room where we were confined and asked if any of us could play upon any instrument. He had not got the words out of his mouth before I caught his intention. There are, or were at that time, more musicians in Europe than in the western hemisphere. This man was after men to enlist in his band.

One prisoner, who may possibly have seen through the fellow's design as I did, said that he could beat the drum. The inquirer gave him a contemptuous look and waited for other answers. I had no musical education whatever and was unable to play a note on any instrument. It occurred to me to give the same reply as he who had said he could beat the drum, but the reception of his statement assured me that such a course would be useless. To gain time, with a view to living a little longer, I sang out:

"I played the trombone for years in the band of the Tenth cuirassiers of the French army."

I saw at once that I had caught the man's attention. He waited for some one else to claim to be a musician, but as none did he said to me:

"Come with me."

My comrades were all shot. I was enlisted in the band of a regiment that was intended to be used at the palace of the president. I feared they would test my capabilities before enlisting me, but the man who had secured me—be turned out to be the bandmaster—set so great store by what I had told him that it did not occur to him to doubt that I was proficient as a trombone player.

Just before I was to take my place in the band for the first practice I

HER HAND AND ARM BURNED AND ITCHED

Could Hardly Sleep at Night for About 11 Months. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and was Completely Cured.

"My mother had a red spot on her right hand which began to grow worse rapidly. The neighbor said it was a teller. She got some medicine from a doctor, but it did not do any good. In about a week the teller began to break out on her arm too. She used five or six different kinds of liniments and three different kinds of salves. Not one of them did her a particle of good. Her hand and arm would burn and itch so much that she could hardly sleep at night. Her hand was that way for about eleven months. Finally a friend of ours recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment to us. She bought some immediately and began to use it. She washed her hand and arm with Cuticura Soap and warm water. Then she applied the Cuticura Ointment and bandaged her hand up. The next morning we all noticed a great improvement. Before she had used a half of a box of Ointment and a very little Soap her hand was completely cured. Now her hand is as well as ever. I think Cuticura Soap and Ointment is the greatest skin remedy ever discovered. C. E. Canady, San Leandro, Cal., Mar. 7, 1910."

Cuticura Remedies afford the most economical treatment for afflictions of the skin and scalp in infants, children and adults. A cake of Cuticura Soap (50c) and a box of Cuticura Ointment (50c) are often sufficient. Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston. Distributed free, latest 25-cent book, 25. Addressing on the Treatment of Skin and Scalp Affections.

TOLSTOI'S SON BITTER

Blames Tschertkoff for the Tragedy

EXILE WAS DUE TO AGENT

The Latter Stirred Up Trouble in the Family—Otherwise All Would Have Been Peace at Yasnaya Poliana.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 30.—Count Leo Tolstoy publishes a bitter denunciation of Count Tschertkoff, the intimate friend and literary agent of the late Count Tolstoy. The son declares that Tschertkoff was the worst enemy that his father had in all educated Russia and the civilized world, and that he was directly guilty of the tragedy of Yasnaya Poliana. "The malign influence of Tschertkoff," writes Count Leo, "caused the premature death of my father, his superhuman sufferings and the separation from his family." But for his literary agent, the son adds, his father would have lived for many years peacefully at Yasnaya Poliana with the family who loved him and whom he loved so devotedly. The arrival of Tschertkoff was the beginning of the end.

BENZINE EXPLOSION IN BERLIN.

2,500,000 Gallons Go Up in Smoke—Loss Estimated at $750,000.

Berlin, Nov. 30.—Four tanks containing two and a half million gallons of benzine exploded Monday night in the suburb of Rummelsburg. There were no fatalities, but the whole city was lighted up by the flames. The damage is estimated at $750,000. Other tanks holding 2,000,000 gallons were endangered.

FLOOD RELIEF ASKED IN FRANCE.

Government Would Appropriate for Sufferers $1,600,000.

Paris, Nov. 30.—The government has asked Parliament to appropriate $1,600,000 for the sufferers by the recent floods. This includes $200,000 for the wine growers, whose crops were ruined.

SEE BABY AT $1 A PEEP.

Hotel Guests Aid Mother Stork Accompanied on Journey.

Ames, Ia., Nov. 30.—The stork accompanied a train over western Ohio Monday. When this city was reached, Mrs. Emma Hamstad of Columbus, Neb., was taken to a hotel. A physician was summoned, and within an hour a baby girl was born.

Mrs. Hamstad was on her way to her husband's family in Milwaukee. Her husband recently died. Hotel-hearted commercial travelers at the hotel devised a plan to provide money for a nurse and pay the physician. Each traveler paid $1 to have a peep at the baby. The money needed was soon obtained.

History of Red Cross Seals.

Red Cross Christmas seals date back in their origin to "charity stamps," first used for the soldiers' relief funds in Boston in 1862, during the Civil war. After the war, this method of raising money was discontinued in this country for a generation, although it found vogue in Portugal, Switzerland, Australia, France, Spain, Denmark, Norway, Russia, Sweden and other European countries. There are now several hundred different types of charity stamps used in all parts of the world.

Stamps or seals were first used to get money for the anti-tuberculosis crusade in Norway and Sweden in 1904. After being used in these countries for three years, as a direct result of the interest of Jacob Riis in this movement, the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis association, headed by Miss Emily P. Bissell, and the Red Cross society of Delaware combined in issuing a tuberculosis stamp. So successful was this campaign that nearly $3,000 was realized, and the next year, in 1908, the American Red Cross was induced to issue a national Red Cross tuberculosis stamp. From this sale, $125,000 was realized, that amount being almost doubled in 1909. This year, for the first time, the sale is organized on a comprehensive basis, taking in all parts of the United States. A million for tuberculosis work is confidently expected.

The proceeds of the Vermont Red Cross Christmas sale goes to aid patients' stay at Pittsford, and get well. On sale at Barre drug stores.

A POLITICAL PRIESTCRAFT.

Ex-Senator Frank J. Cannon's Story of the Menace of the Mormon Church.

The former United States senator from Utah, himself a Mormon, commences a series of articles in the Christian Science Monitor, written with a zeal tempered by affection. He says of his people:

"But it is even through their virtue and by their very strength that they are being betrayed. A human devotion—the like of which has rarely lived among the citizens of any modern subjugation against others and held as a means of oppression upon the Mormons themselves. Noble when they were weak, they are being led to ignominious, now that they have become strong. Praying for justice when they had no power, now that they have gained power it is being abused to ends of injustice. Their leaders, reaching for the fleshpots for which these simple-hearted devotees have never sighed, have allied themselves with all the predaacious 'interests' of the country and now use the superhuman power of a religious tyranny to increase the dividends of a national plunder."

MEXICO REVOLT NEEDS A LEADER

Former Consul Declares That Madero Is Not the Man to Head an Uprising.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 30.—Senator Juan Pedro Didaph, former Mexican consul at Norfolk, who resigned several months ago on account of differences with President Diaz and his administration, has arrived in Washington from a two weeks' tour of Mexico. Senator Didaph stated that the revolutionary movement in Mexico, so far as he was able to observe, is not serious.

"Madero, the leader of the revolutionary forces," Senator Didaph said, "is not the man to head such a movement. Madero's private life, as well as his political principles, are not such as to attract the real leaders of the anti-administration. While I will admit that the anti-Diaz element in Mexico is a serious proposition, yet a man of the Madero type is not the kind of a person to crystallize the sentiment in favor of a gigantic revolution."

Should the revolting element be led by such a man as Gen. Reyes, then the present administration might have cause for alarm. But men of the Reyes type are not willing to war against Diaz at this time. While it is admitted by them that the administration is not all it should be, it is also realized that Diaz has done a wonderful work for the Mexican people and for Mexico in general. So long as Diaz is alive, I do not believe there is cause for alarm."

Conditions in Mexico are rapidly approaching a normal status and the revolutionary disturbances are believed to be practically confined to the state of Chihuahua. Such is the tone of a telegram received by the state department yesterday from Henry Lane Wilson, United States ambassador to Mexico City.

BOTH ASPHYXIATED.

Husband and Wife Found Dead in Their Apartment.

Pawtucket, R. I., Nov. 30.—Going to the room of their parents to awaken them yesterday, the children of John T. Brail and Mrs. Elizabeth Durvin Brail found their father and mother dead from asphyxiation, a partly open gas jet still pouring its deadly fumes into the room.

Their son-in-law, George Papin, who also lived in the same house, called at his father-in-law's door when he was going to work at the Royal Weaving company's mill, where Brail was also a weaver. Finding only some of the children up, he went with them to Brail's room, where he discovered the room filled with gas and the parents dead. The doors and windows were closed, but this was not unusual and everything pointed to the conclusion that their deaths were accidental. They have eight children, one of whom is married. The youngest is 10 years old.

MAN SHOT DEAD.

Mysterious Murder on a Street in Harlem.

New York, Nov. 30.—One of a group of four well-dressed men, apparently all Americans, was shot dead as he was walking along a Harlem street early yesterday.

According to the only known witness of the shooting, Vincent Biende, an occupant of a nearby apartment house on Manhattan street, from which the group had just emerged, the man was shot by one of his companions, who then ran off.

There was nothing about the murdered man to identify him. His clothing was of good quality. The label of a Broadway clothier gave the police their only clue to work upon.

The authorities are seeking the dead men's companions.

Although the dead man was identified yesterday afternoon as John Nicholas Kerner, a young married man of the middle west side, clues to the man's assailants proved elusive. The police developed the theory, however, that the young man was the victim of gang members, who bore some grudge against him.

SCOTT OFF FOR ANTARCTIC.

Polar Expedition Leaves New Zealand for Southern Seas.

Christchurch, New Zealand, Nov. 30.—The ship Terra Nova, bearing the British south polar expedition under the command of Capt. Robert F. Scott, sailed from Port Chalmers for the antarctic yesterday.

The Terra Nova sailed from London June 1 and gradually worked her way south. Capt. Scott, who joined the vessel in New Zealand, hopes to reach the south pole in December of 1911.

WOMAN WORKS WIRELESS.

First Operator of Her Sex Sails On Liner Mohawk.

New York, Nov. 30.—On the Clyde liner Mohawk, sailing yesterday for Charleston and Jacksonville, the first woman wireless telegraph operator who ever bore the responsibility of this position on an ocean liner, will have charge of the wireless room.

She is Miss Grayella Packer of Jacksonville. She is 22 years old and has had two years' experience as manager of a telegraph office at Sanford, Fla.

Why is Everybody So Silent About Leather?

The only things shoe people talk about these days are "style," "fit" and "appearance." They are very important things, but they mean little without careful tanning of the leather. They all disappear when a shoe loses its shape.

Why is everybody so silent about leather? Because of the Hide Trust, the Leather Trust and because of the short cuts and the hasty processes in tanning. All shoes look good when they are new—the great shoe trouble is premature old age.

The style, fit and good looks of Endicott-Johnson shoes are there to stay. They begin with the men at the tan vats. When the leather reaches the shoe experts something good can be made of it.

Endicott, Johnson & Co. are the only shoemakers in the world that tan their own leather—the only shoemakers independent of all trusts.

For street and business wear—ask for their ENDWELL shoe. It sells for $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00—wears better than any shoe you ever bought at the same money, and holds its style, shape and finish to the end.

ENDWELL shoes are as stylish shoes as any man wants to wear—correct in design and handsome in appearance. You can make your choice from all the fashionable lasts and shapes of toe—high cut and low cut—lace or button.

Look for the name stamped on every shoe.

ENDWELL

More than half the shoe dealers in the United States are handling Endicott-Johnson shoes. Always ask for them and look for the name stamped on the sole. If you have any difficulty finding what you want, write Endicott, Johnson & Co., Endicott, N. Y., and receive detailed information and list of dealers by return mail.

In Woman's Realm.

To keep white silk gloves and waists from turning yellow, wash carefully in the usual way, then add one tablespoonful wood alcohol to the rinse water.

To set green, blue, lavender and pink colors in wash goods, soak in alum water before washing, two ounces to a tub of water. Black, dark blue and gray should be soaked in strong salted water.

If you wish to remove a screw that is difficult to loosen, heat poker red hot and hold it on the head of the screw for a short time, then while it is still hot, apply the screw driver and it will come out easily.

Dust and dampness soon discolor the most expensive settings, and make them shabby. Clean them with soap and water with an old toothbrush. Their brilliancy should be quite restored by this treatment.

Keeping Steps Clean.

In cities no pavement can be kept right unless it is cleaned once a day with the hose. Sprinkling will not do. A broom should be used vigorously. In case of bad stains on the bricks or asphalt that will not yield, a professional cleaner should be called in.

If marble or stone steps have been neglected it is well to have a cleaner do them as soon as you return to the city. Muratic and other acids will make the marble glisten and the stone look its best. All that remains is to keep them in such condition.

Remember not to use soap on brown stone steps, as it ruins them. Vigorous scrubbing with hot water is all that is needed.

A nice wash for white marble is a paste made from equal parts of salt and fine pumice stone added to twice the quantity of washing soda. This is mixed with water into a paste after being first finely sifted. Rub well on the marble, especially on discolored parts, then wash off in water to which a little salt is added. Do not use ammonia on marble, as it yellows it.

Where Fashions Come From.

Season after season, year in and year out, "the fashions" present themselves in an endless succession of changes. Where do they come from and how do they come? Who invents them? It seems a mysterious business, and there is in fact a good deal of uncertainty and caprice about it, but no mystery. It is a regular process, says the London Times, conducted on definite and intelligible principles, which are at bottom just the same old business principles that govern other things.

The fashions are business and only different from other business in the fact that their essential quality is changed; they are clothes illuminated by change. The same quality enters into some other things too, but not nearly to the same extent, for very simple and sufficient reasons. There is more demand and at the same time more scope for change in dress than in other things, modes of shaking hands. Change is novelty and desired mainly because it attracts attention and confers distinction; and these objects are more effectively attained in proportion to the prominence of the personal element.

Nothing is so close to the person as clothes, nothing so effectually attracts attention to the person. At the same time they are more perishable than furniture or houses; they need constant renewals, and the possibilities of variation are unlimited. Consequently dress offers a field for fashion or novelty so superior to any other that it has annexed the word, and "the fashions" have come to mean novelty in dress, and especially women's dress, for the same reasons, because it is more important for women to attract personal attention than for men. There are fashions in men's dress, but they represent very trifling changes, and the men who attach importance to them are of no account.

They are partners with the trade; they "set the fashion." Other women follow perforce and here comes in a curious bit of psychology. The leaders of fashion lead in order to be conspicuous; their example is gradually followed until the fashion is established, when every woman has to adopt it for the opposite reason in order not to be conspicuous, and then the process begins all over again.—Exchange.
